PREFACE

IT has been thought best to change the name of this Catalogue from General Catalogue to Biographical Catalogue. A general list of all the former students of the Seminary was first published in 1818. It was a mere list, except that the present location and work of each student was given, as far as known. The term General Catalogue was first employed in the next edition, printed in 1829, which was of the same character. With each successive edition the biographical feature became more prominent, and is now so truly descriptive of the book that it should appear in its title. Another reason for the change is that the colleges of the country are beginning to call their annual catalogues general, when they embrace information about several departments. The compiler hopes that the change in the name will meet the approval of the alumni.

Another more important change will be noticed. The Catalogue is that of 1894 revised and brought to date, with one marked difference. The students are no longer classified by the year of matriculation, whether belonging to one class or another; but are arranged in their proper classes. It is believed that this change will be welcomed by all former students. It has necessitated an entire recasting of the Catalogue, and in the earlier years has been attended with much difficulty. Indeed, with the first few classes it has been impossible to make an accurate classification, there being no record as to which class a student joined on entering the Seminary. The first published list of the students in the three classes, as far as known, is dated January, 1821. In the present Catalogue the first class is given as that of 1815, although in one instance the student might, perhaps, be given more properly as of 1813 or 1814.

The classes have been divided into two parts, those who completed the full course and received a certificate of graduation, and those who did not. There was difficulty here in the earliest years. The first rule for the granting of such certificates after three years and on examination was made by the General Assembly of 1819. The Catalogue will show why it was that the General Assembly so often complained of the fact that so many students failed to complete their full course in the Seminary.

The Special Students have been given after the others and listed by the year of matriculation, as they were not regular members of any particular class.

For the first time, all those who came to Princeton Seminary for graduate courses only have been included in the Catalogue, and are to be found at the close of the volume, classified by the year of matriculation.

A list of Fellows and of the recipients of the degree of Bachelor of Divinity is also given.

A more compact system of abbreviations has been adopted. These, for the most part, will explain themselves. A full list, with explanations, is given at the end of the Catalogue. A new feature is an index of Directors, Trustees, Faculty and Lecturers, which precedes the general index of the students.

A denomination, or a state or country once given is understood to continue until another is given.

A dash, space and period (– .) at the end of a record indicates that the last service given continues until the present time.

A semi-colon and dash (;–) at the end of a record indicates that further information is wanting.

If an alumnus has been a Director or Trustee of the Seminary, or a moderator of the General Assembly, this fact is given at the end of his record.

An asterisk (*) marks the dead.

The compiler wishes to thank the many clerks of Presbyteries, Synods and other religious bodies, as well as many pastors and other persons, who have given him much needed information. He is particularly indebted for aid in his work to Miss Isabella H. Gosman, of the staff of the Seminary Library, and to Mr. Charles D. Brokenshire, of the class of 1910, of the Seminary.

JOSEPH H. DULLES.

SPECIAL SUMMARIES

Class A. of the following summaries includes those engaged in ministerial or closely allied work, until laid aside by ill health or death. In some cases, however, where a change in ecclesiastical relation occurred late in life, the previous relation is given. Also, where the ecclesiastical relation has been retained, but the work of the ministry has been abandoned, the case is included in Class A. as well as in Class B. The Presbyterians include all the various branches of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches.

Class B. includes all not in Class A., apart from repetitions as indicated above, without reference to denominational connection. The Permanent Missionaries are those who engaged in no other form of labor. The Temporary Missionaries are those who worked for a time in the foreign field, but afterwards returned to this country to take up some other kind of service.

In Class C. the colleges have been put in the order determined by the number of students sent to the Seminary. The exceptions to this are Washington and Jefferson Colleges, Pa., and Washington and Lee Colleges, Va., which were united to form one institution. Only graduates of the colleges have been included in this class.

The summaries include the class of 1909. They do not include graduate students. It has been impossible to test their absolute accuracy.
